One reason why orientation matters!

A note worth illustrating... attached is the difference in the roof decking temperatures during the last week here in Louisiana where the outdoor temps reached a "sunny" high temp of 85 degree ambient... "Sunny" being the key word...one roof is facing north and other is facing east. Quite a difference for March, can't wait to see what July and August will look like. #radiant

